The 18-hole "Scarsdale" course at the Scarsdale Golf Club facility in Hartsdale, New York features 6,322 yards of golf from the longest tees for a par of 72 . The course rating is 71.2 and it has a slope rating of 130. Designed by A.W. Tillinghast, the Scarsdale golf course opened in 1898.

Since its founding, the Scarsdale Golf Club has been considered one of the top golf courses in the Westchester County area, and its heritage has been linked with some of the legendary names of golf course architecture and design.

The course's original construction coincided with a surge in golf course construction in the country at the turn of the 20th century. Scarsdale was designed to be very playable. Known for its tight driving areas, fast greens and hilly terrain, Scarsdale is a quintessential shot maker's course. An errant tee or approach shot often assures bogey, or worse.
